About seminar and speaker Tim Zheng

Tim graduated from MIT, where he studied Management and Mathematics with Computer Science. When he's a student at MIT, he got chance to work at Citadel, Goldman Sachs, Boston Consulting Group, and Jane Street Capital. He recently quit his high paying job at a top hedge fund company and focuses on his start-up business, an e-learning website for math and science, Braingenie.com. He's a role model for young entrepreneurs. He will speak about success strategies for applying to and studying in elite colleges, and reaching success beyond.

There will be no charge for this event.
